

Visitation Day Planned For Coming Wed., May 6

Wartburg will once again roll out the carpet for visiting high school students, Wednesday, May 6. Plans are being made by the Admissions Department.

The day will begin with registration in the foyer of the Chapel-auditorium and the visitation of various classrooms and laboratories from 8 to 11 a.m. Registration fee of $1.00 will cover the cost of the noon lunch, all athletic events and the play.

At 10 a.m., a special convocation will be held in the Chapel-auditorium. A music recital will follow at 11 a.m.

Noon lunch will be served in the cafeteria from 11:45 until 1 p.m.

Athletics and arts will take over the afternoon's program. At 1 p.m. a Tri-angular track meet will see the Knights playing host to the Peacocks of Upper Iowa and the Statesmen of William Penn. At 2 p.m. a baseball double-header with Loras and a tennis meet will progress.

Musical comedy will conclude the day's activities as the Castle Singers and Drama Department present "Bells are Ringing," from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Savings Time To Start Sun.

Administration officials met Wednesday morning to decide the Daylight Savings Time issue. It was decided that Wartburg go along with the rest of the city of Waverly in this matter.

Beginning tomorrow all clocks will be moved ahead one hour. Daylight Savings Time will be observed until October 4, when clocks will be moved back to Central Standard Time.

All classes and activities will be regulated according to the "fast" time and students are asked to plan accordingly.

Coed, 8 Men To Serve On Senate Next Fall

One coed and eight men were elected to serve as class senators for next fall. About five hundred votes were cast in the election yesterday.

Senior senators for next year will be Roger Sherman, Harold Shudlick and David Zimmerman. Sherman has served as sophomore class president, senator and chairman of various committees.

Shudlick has been in student government since his freshman year. Zimmerman, a transfer from Waldorf College was student body president there last year.

Margaret Freeland, Roger Prehn and Harold Blobaum were chosen as government spokesmen for the junior class. Prehn and Blobaum will be new to Senate next fall. Miss Freeland is presently senator for the sophomore class.

The sophomore class will be represented by Bill Karrow, Jim Lubben and Ken Schrankel. Karrow and Schrankel have both served on Senate.

Freshmen cast the most ballots of the three classes. Juniors cast 132, sophomores 140 and freshmen 254 votes.

Arabian Mist To Descend Tonight

By Kristine Benedict

Tonight's the night and it "won't be just any night" as "Scheherazade" finally materializes.

Emerging from the mystic setting of Arabia, the festivities will begin with a banquet spread before an Arabian sheik's tent. Those attending the meal at St. Paul's Parish Hall at 6:30 p.m. will walk through a striped tent onto a desert oasis.

Long banquet tables decorated with date leaves and the jewels and gold of the sheik will stretch to the walls of the city at the opposite end of the room.

Just over the walls the glimmering roof tops of an Arabian city at night will be seen.

Acting as master of ceremonies will be junior Roger Sherman. Dr. Edwin Schick, Religion Department, will give the invocation.

Guests will be richly entertained after dinner. Music will be provided by a girl's trio accompanied by senior Ken Schneider, and by Carolyn Wulff in a piano solo.

Featured speaker for the event will be Rudolph Bjorgan. He has been a member of the Wartburg History Department since 1950. He received his A.M. degree at the University of Minnesota in 1948 and was an instructor there for the next two years.

After departing from the oasis, juniors and seniors will journey to Knights Gymnasium where they will join other students at 9 p.m. Tickets will still be available at the door.

Seniors will be requested to register at the entrance to the dance by costumed harem girl Diane Hertel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elmer Hertel.

Inside, the gym will suddenly become an enchanting Arabian tent with an outline of a minaret enclosing the opening of the stage. From this opening will come strains of music by Ray Lewis and his nine piece orchestra from Mason City.

Dancers will find themselves surrounded by tables dimly lit by candles sitting on miniature outlines of the minaret. Refreshments will be served during the evening on a table

Musical To Open

SENIOR NANCY IHLE and Orv McElfresh will be seen Friday and Saturday in "Bells are Ringing." The musical begins at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

This year's musical, "Bells Are Ringing," will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium. A special showing will be given May 6 at 4:30 p.m. for High School Visitation Day.

Student directors are Kathryn Becker, junior, and senior Ken Schneider. Schneider is in charge of the musical part of the production while Miss Becker assists with the dramatic direction.

Featured performers in the play, produced with the combined efforts of the Wartburg Theatre and Castle Singers, are seniors Nancy Ihle and Orv McElfresh.

Miss Ihle will be remembered by many for her outstanding performance in last year's musical "Once Upon a Mattress."

Other cast members are seniors Marie Kammerer, David Dix, Kenton Zellmer; juniors Betty Kalkwarf, Art Ruppel, Dave Perkins; and freshmen Paul Zidlicky, James Ludwig and Allen Lyndrup.

According to John Gill, dramatic director for the production, there are many more minor roles which combine to make a total cast of more than fifty.

Guest performers for the evening will be the Waverly Community Symphony, conducted by Dr. James Fritschel, director of Castle Singers.

The story involves a New York answering service and the efforts of one of the operators to try to personally help the clients.

Although her efforts are well meant, there are many misunderstandings and the result is utter chaos.

"Bells Are Ringing" was a popular Broadway musical starring Judy Holiday and remained on Broadway for two seasons. It was also a popular movie.

Since production costs for the musical are high, students and faculty will not be admitted on their activity tickets, according to Gill.

Ellison, Lyndrup Are Winners Of Castle Poetry, Prose

Castle awards in prose and poetry have been announced by editor Jacklyn Lohr.

Both first and second prize in the poetry division were won by sophomore Dianne Ellison.

Third award went to senior Dee Dreier.

In the prose division Allen Lyndrup, freshman, received the first award; second award was won by senior Nancy Keel; and third place was awarded to senior Helene Kurtz.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gremmels and Mrs. Margaret Hemingway.

According to Miss Lohr, the innovations this year are: larger size (48 pages and 10 illustrations) and faculty contributions.

"We have just turned in the silver proof and are very excited about seeing the finished product. We hope to receive the completed magazine the second week of May," said Miss Lohr.

Dr. C. Becker To Address Convo

Next week's convocation programs will include a program by the Music Department and an address by Dr. C. H. Becker.

Tuesday, the Music department will provide a program featuring all areas of the department. Students presenting it are mainly senior music majors selected by the music faculty.

Including solos and ensembles, the program will consist of vocal solos, piano solos, a flute quartet, a vocal quartet and a piano, flute, bassoon trio.

Numbers presented will range from tunes by the French composer Ravel to some of Beethoven's classical works to numbers by the contemporary artist David Diamond.

Thursday, Dr. C. H. Becker will deliver an address to the student body entitled "I Remember."

Centering around the changes at Wartburg and highlights in his career since he took the presidency in 1945, the address

BELIEVE IT OR not there is more than one way for a camel to be born. Two Wartburg students, Keith Tomlinson and John Thalacker, are busy making one for the spring prom, Scheherazade.

Students To Buy Lounge Carpeting

Student Body Project for this year is to raise enough money to purchase carpeting for the new lounge addition in the Student Union. Mike Zolnosky and Jack Wendt are co-chairmen for the project.

According to Zolnosky, the rugs will cost 1200 dollars. Funds from "Circus in Space," the spring carnival, will be used for this purpose. Only 250 dollars was raised at that time.

Remainder of the money will be raised by dorm solicitations. They will start next Monday and last for two weeks.

"I only wish that 600 students wouldn't have been off campus the weekend of the carnival," said Zolnosky. "If the students want to have their lounge carpeted they will have to pay for it."

Gripes Of Wrath

We have some work to do. High school students will be visiting our campus soon, and so it would be a good time to give them an advance run on college life. We must get into shape to teach the frosh.

Take sex for instance. It's the thing to talk about and of course the thing to do. As one national magazine said, "Students like to think that sex solves everything. Nothing else appears to be quite so challenging or rewarding. After all, you get a pot-shot at God, mother, virginity, prudity, boredom, pedantry and the dean's office all at one 'sitting.' . . . Besides, questions raised by your courses in anthropology, sociology, psychology, history, philosophy, religion, literature and Darwinism get answered; you complete your education."

Convo, as everybody knows, is the time to sleep, write letters and study. An Artist Series is something to gripe about because we don't get choice seats, but we wouldn't think of coming if we did.

Then there's our attitude about pre-theological students and religion in general. Pre-thes are undecided bums who can't make a choice and once they make it, they must have the pious, holier-than-thou attitude. Religion courses at Wartburg? Now isn't that a bunch of malarky?

The Trumpet? That's a little Sunday School paper which has nothing but false news and preachy editorials. Evening chapel one just doesn't attend. If anybody does, just stand around and laugh at him because he's "out of it."

Tell those freshmen about the horrible food in the cafeteria. Spoil their appetites before they taste it. While we're at it we might as well gripe about how long the construction job took and what a bum job it is.

Let's not forget about the faculty and staff. Where else would you find a housemother like the one we have or teachers like we have to listen to? It's only at Wartburg.

Then there's Iowa weather when all other gripes fail. There's nothing like it! Thank heavens.

Enter Year 401

Birthdays are funny things. Actually, we only have one birthday, and Thursday we accused one man of having 400. Wow! I imagine he did not roll over in his grave at such an accusation.

William Shakespeare and his birthday anniversary did not go unnoticed at Wartburg as was imagined a week ago. Thanks to a letter in the Trumpet and a little ingenuity on the part of some teachers and students, it was quite a festive day, complete with cake in several classes. One faculty member was seen carrying a bust of Shakespeare.

Some students found it very invigorating to hop out of bed, look out the window and then begin to sing "Happy Birthday, dear William" at the top of their lungs. Others merely responded by saying, "Et tu Brute" or "Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow." Others, on hearing the singing voices in the wee morning hours, might have found still more quotable quotes.

Recognition from the campus did go to a great author.

Why shouldn't we celebrate and give honor to a man who will continue to live through his writings for years to come?

What could be better than Outfly to add freedom to our liberal arts program? Perhaps it should become more than a biannual affair!

The big question on campus is, "How are we going to put the sundial on Daylight Savings Time?"

If you hear strange sounds, don't be alarmed. "Bells ARE Ringing."

One of the basic conflicts of the short story is man against nature. I wonder how this will apply to prom dresses and weather.

For lasting results, treat old friends to the courtesy with which you would greet new acquaintances.

Instead Of Security, Try Growing

By Verle Reincke

Some students seem to run around like chickens with their heads (or wings perhaps) cut off wildly waving their arms and shouting that their faith has been undermined by the "heresy" presented at Wartburg College. They say that they have been swindled out of their faith.

But wait just a minute. Is this the case? Is this really the situation involved? Or is it that they have swindled themselves? Actually, the reason is that perhaps they have failed in their obligation to grow in their faith while they grow in other areas of the college situation.

It is true that one could argue that what is presented is above him and seems to be revolutionary. The fault lies not with the college but rather with how one was prepared for it before he entered college. Many times this preparation leaves much to be desired.

The problem, then, lies in growth. Growth is not easy. Developing from childhood to adolescence to adulthood and accepting the responsibilities thrust on one in each case is difficult. And all growth requires adjustment.

Furthermore, there is a necessary degree of uncertainty involved when we move from the security we have into what might be tritely referred to as the realm of the unknown. However, this in itself presents a challenge, a challenge which must be met if one hopes to be effective in the world and to himself.

In order to meet the challenge of growth, one must be alive and vital to the world around him. This requires honesty, integrity and a consideration of others.

All of this is necessary for growth in any area, but it is particularly applicable to our religious growth. This is true because religion should be to most of the undergirding factors of life.

One should realize the inevitability of growth, or he will become a static creature. If so, he is no longer of use to anyone, least of all himself. College has acted as a catalyst to impede the growth process, painful though it may be. Again, however, it would have happened anyway.

Therefore, what may have been meaningful and vital for one in high school may not be meaningful and vital in the college situation. Usually it is not. It is foolish and hypocritical for one not to let his religious growth coincide with his growth in other areas.

To a certain extent, therefore, it is necessary to break with the past. This does not mean that the past be rejected. Quite the contrary, the past must be the basis for building the new.

Certainly, a gap is created between the before and the after of the college experience. But one must also recognize that his religious growth is seen in terms of a larger continuum encompassing the whole of life.

College may have presented a kind of earthquake experience where the faults in the continuum have shifted. Turmoil, upsets and seeming setbacks may have resulted, but out of it can come something new and more meaningful. It must!

The false idea, then, that Wartburg College is undermining the faith of its students is only a mask or excuse for not facing squarely the challenge to grow. It is only a poor way of reacting to what some interpret as being a threat to their security.

One must never stop growing, especially religiously. It would be most pitiful if one did. He must be something like the grammarian in Browning's "The Grammarian's Funeral," who could never stop learning because he could never learn all. So also religious growth should never cease because one can never attain the complete stature necessary, and one should never lose sight of that fact.

Mudslinging Slated For Fall Elections

By Kathryn Becker

While perusing through the newspaper recently, I couldn't help noticing, among other things, that a national election is pending within the next few months. (For the correct date in your locality check your local paper.)

Becker

Various thoughts passed through my mind. A number of them paused long enough for me to glean a few pertinent reactions.

First of all, a national election in a true democracy (such as ours) is composed of at least two main political parties. Both of which take full credit for any good, and blame the opposing party for all the bad. A third party claims the country survived in spite of the other two.

Preceding the election, each party will throw a free-for-all. Otherwise known as conventions. Each candidate will be careful to put his best side forward—for the benefit of the television audience. (At least two weeks of reruns will be eliminated).

These sexless orgies will acquaint the voters with the respective platforms. (Not necessarily respectable). Even at first glance it will become apparent to anyone under 21 that neither party has a 2x4 to stand on.

The communications media will be full of pictures and reports of all the candidates—right down to the dog-catcher. Grown men will be shown making fools of themselves over babies (who can't even vote).

Suddenly all the candidates will go in for church and golf and come out for motherhood and ice cream. Relatives will be pressed into service to show that those who know him for what he really is still back him.

Name-calling will become the rule and not the exception. Latent tendencies for mud-slinging will manifest themselves. The candidate who is truly interested in his political future will go all out to obliterate his personal past.

An election could be lost because a man reportedly kicked a dog. Or refused to renounce his father's millions and be born in a log cabin. Or decided to change wives in mid-stream. Or insisted on being born a woman.

Previously congenial families will be torn by conflict. The Civil War could hardly have affected the home more. It's wife against husband and child against parent. The dinner table becomes a political battlefield.

The day that the fate of the nation rests on the candidates and the voters will be a fateful day for the nation.

Knights Hand Loras 88-43 Set Back

By Gary Olson

Wartburg cindermen continued to win Wednesday as the Knights more than doubled up on Loras of Dubuque 88-43.

Big point gains for the Knights came as a result of sweeps in five divisions. Loras swept only one event.

Knights held top three places in the mile, 120-yard high hurdles, javelin, 220-yard low hurdles and the two-mile. Loras' only sweep was the 440-yard dash.

Legman Roger Palmer was number one in both the mile and the two-mile. It was in the two-mile that he crept up on running mate Lothar Columbus and raced past him in the final turn of the gun lap to win the event.

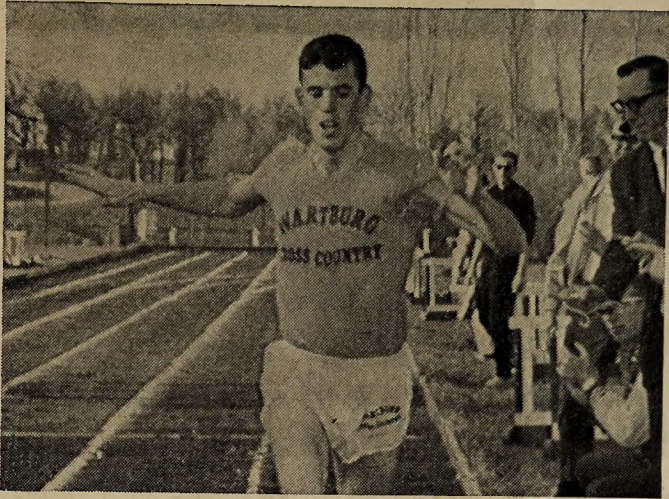

Until now, Palmer has been running in second place behind Columbus in all events they have entered together.

The closest event of the day was the mile relay. Wartburg came out on top with a time of 3:28.9.

Each lap ended with a close near-perfect hand-off by both teams. At the beginning of every lap Loras grabbed the lead until the runners approached the second turn. Here the Knights overtook the Loras runners and raced to a first place finish.

Netsters Top Conf. Doubles

Wartburg grabbed top honors in the second flight in the Iowa Conference doubles held at Des Moines last Saturday.

Netsters Jerry Shinkay and John Thalacker combined to capture the first place rating. The duo opened the meet by handing arch-rival Luther a severe 12-5 trouncing.

While Shinkay and Thalacker were gaining the distinction of champions, another Wartburg pair were giving it all they had to try to make it a clean sweep for the Knights.

Jack Wendt and Doug Langholz moved from their usual No. 2 position up to the No. 1 position especially for this doubles meet and finished in the runner-up spot behind Penn.

William Penn cut Wartburg's bid for the clean sweep short by slapping a 12-2 defeat on the Knight pair in the title match.

Coach Jasper's netmen will meet SCI next Monday in a make-up match, which was postponed because of wind and cold.

Knights, SCI Set Rematch

Linksters face a revenge minded SCI team at Gates Park in Waterloo, Tuesday. SCI has had revenge on their mind since an upset victory by the Knights last Monday over the SCI linksmen 8-7.

Les Holland was medalist for the Knights with a 74, followed closely by Norman Lutinen with a 76. Peitsch came back from a front nine of 44 with an even par 35 to upset SCI's No. 2 man 2-1 and gave the Knights the 8-7 victory.

A week ago the Knights split a double dual match, defeating the Upper Iowa linksters 12-3 and losing to the Luther men 11-4.

Hardballers Divide Twin-bill; Drop To Third Place Tie

By Chuck Ditto

Conference leadership goes up for grabs today as Wartburg, currently tied for third place with Buena Vista, travels to Pella for a twin bill with the Flying Dutchmen of Central.

Central is deadlocked with Luther for the No. 1 notch with identical 4-0 records. Luther also entertains Buena Vista for a double-header today.

Wartburg found itself in the third place tie as a result of a split with Dubuque in last Saturday's double-header at Dubuque. Wartburg took the opener 15-8 in which there were 29 hits and dropped the night-cap 2-0.

Oppiemmen jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the opening frame on a home run by Dave Langrock and consecutive singles by Arlen Kruger, Al Exner and Bob Matthias, with Kruger scampering home on Matthias' single.

However, the Spartans came right back in their half of the first and jumped all over starting pitcher Leon Carley to knot the score at 2 all.

Wartburg took advantage of Spartan pitching control and a miscue to score three more runs in the second inning.

Dubuque scored two more runs in the bottom of the second and chased Carley to the showers. Oppermann called on his ace southpaw Langrock and he came on to put out the fire. Langrock finished the game sending 12 Spartans down on strikes.

Knights continued the scoring marathon with 5 more runs in the fourth inning.

Shortstop Roger Kittleson got things rolling with a double, Kruger singled, Exner singled scoring Kittleson, Matthias got a free pass to jam the bases and Arlyn Ristau drove in the second run of the inning with a sacrifice fly.

A Dubuque wild pitch provided the Knights with run number three in the inning as Exner scrambled for the plate on the wide pitch.

Bill Fuicher singled and Larry Dietrichs drove in the final two runs of the inning and was thrown out at second trying to stretch his hit into a double.

Wartburg padded their lead in the fifth with four more runs including a 3-run home run blast by Matthias. A final run in the seventh gave the Knights their 15-run total. Langrock was the winning pitcher and is now 3-0.

Dubuque freshman Rick Jockim turned in a fine 3-hit performance to silence the roaring bats of the first game and give the Knights their first setback in 6 games.

Wartburg hurler, Garry Medlang, was sailing along until he ran into a little control problem in the sixth inning. Medlang issued the Spartans a pair of free passes.

Dubuque's first sacker, Larry First, who had whiffed his five previous trips to the plate, lined a double into left-center to give the Spartans their two runs.

Only Knights to touch Jockim were Ristau with a double and Langrock and Exner, who each had a single.

Line scores:

	First Game
Wartburg	230-540-1—15-144
Dubuque	221-100-2—8-153
	Second Game
Wartburg	000-000-0—0-3-0
Dubuque	000-002-x—2-4-1

Netmen Put Spirit Into Tennis Wins

By Mike Becker

The Davis Cup may be on its way to Wartburg's trophy case. As the symbol of international tennis supremacy, the Wartburg tennis team is making a spirited bid for this cup. Led by stalwart doubles teams, composed of Jerry Shinkay and John (J.T.) Thalacker, and Doug Langholz and Jack Wendt, Wartburg unofficially won the Conference Doubles tournament last weekend.

To those who don't understand the scoring involved in a tennis meet, I hereby dedicate this paragraph. In a tennis match, 6 singles and 3 doubles matches are played, except when we play Luther, they usually bring along as many men as suits them. One point is given to the victor in each of the matches.

A team which wins all of its matches would win the meet 9-0. A match is decided by whoever wins 2 out of 3 sets against their opposition. A set consists of winning 6 games and winning by at least 2 games in each set. A typical set score for a match would be 6-4, 6-2.

Now a little about some of the stars on our team. I shall concentrate my efforts on our first six men.

Leading off the team is Jerry Shinkay. Jerry is well known for his smashing serves and quick moves both on and off the courts. Jerry hails from the great state of Wisconsin. Playing the No. 2 spot is another Wisconsin man, Jack Wendt of Appleton. Jack is mainly known for his grace on the court. For a big man he moves very well.

Starting at the No. 3 spot is that happy man, John Thalacker. John is known to many as the "King of the Courts," due to his good all-around game. John, we are told hails from Iowa. Holding down the No. 4 position, is the bald man of the tennis team, Doug Langholz. Doug has perhaps the best stroke on the team, hitting the ball real well. Doug is from down south, Illinois.

Dennis Brown is currently holding the No. 5 spot. Denny has the best form on the team and possesses the classic backhand form. Denny is also from Iowa. Another Wisconsin man, Dave Shalkhauser, is playing No. 6 man. Dave is the owner of a fine twist serve and is also an exceptionally fine doubles player.

Following these men are the rest of us battling for positions. Ken Barr, Steve Kollmann, and Dave Ziegler join me in the teach for a place on our tennis team.

Next week John Thalacker will write a guest article on "How to Win at Doubles or Call Them All Long."

25 Enter Oratory Contest

Twenty-five students have entered the first all-college oratory contest, according to Donald Douglas, Speech Department. This contest, which is being sponsored by the speech department, will be in two categories, oration and debate.

Debate section of the contest will be held Monday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. Oratory will be in the Little Theater at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday.

Winners in the debate contest will receive a traveling trophy, which will be used until retired by the speech department or until it is won by the same person three times in succession.

Oratory winners will receive cash prizes of $10 for first place, $7 for second place and $3 for third place, in addition to a traveling trophy.

Three Waverly residents will serve as judges in the final oratorical contest, according to Douglas. Visitors are welcome to attend the contest.

Japan Missionary To Speak Sunday

Missionary Lois Pedersen from Japan will speak to a joint meeting of Mission Fellowship and Phobes in Clinton Hall Lounge tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m.

"Students, faculty and staff are invited to hear of mission work being done in Japan," said senior Marcia Brenton, Phobes' president.

Miss Pedersen will also show slides of her work in Japan.

Wartburg Hall Janitor Dies

Gust Van Hauen, custodian at Wartburg Hall, died suddenly last Saturday. He had worked as usual on Friday and had prepared to come to work on Saturday when he had a sudden heart attack.

Memorial services were held for him at the Cleveland Funeral Chapel on Tuesday.

Students will remember his work on campus at the Fine Arts Building and at Wartburg Hall.

"I miss all those little things that he did which did not mean much at the time, but are very noticeable now," reports Mrs. Arlene Slack, housemother for Wartburg Hall.

Coeds Enter Contest Finals

Two Wartburg College coeds have been named finalists for the Miss Waverly pageant to be held in the school's Chapel-auditorium here May 9.

They are freshman Catherine Ann Carroll and sophomore Carol Wessels.

Eight more finalists will be picked before the pageant is staged.

Both girls will employ music as a part of their talent. Miss Wessels plans to accompany herself on either the organ or the piano while singing, and Miss Carroll will do a modern dance.

A blue-eyed blond, Miss Wessels is 20 years old and a graduate of Independence high school.

She is president of Centennial Hall, vice-president of Pi Sigma, secretary of the Usher's Club, a member of the Wartburg Choir and a member of the Student Education Association.

Miss Carroll, 19, is a graduate of Lyons Township High School in LaGrange, Ill.

She is currently a member of the Wartburg student government, an activity she also participated in while in high school.

3 Recitals To Be Presented

Ken Schneider, senior, and juniors Susan Larson and Jeanette Baier will perform in music recital tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Ken Schneider, a senior pianist from Chicago, Ill., will present "Sonata in F Major, L. 384" by Scarlatti and "Sonata in B-flat Major, K. 281, movements: 'Allegro,' 'Andante Amoroso' and 'Allegro,' " by Mozart.

After intermission, he will continue with "Mazurka in B Minor, Op. 33, No. 4" by Chopin.

Concluding the program, he will perform three preludes from "Preludes, Book I" by Debussy, a French composer. They include "La fille aux cheveux de lin" (Maid with the Flaxen Hair), "Danseuses de Delphes" (Delphic Dancers), and "Des pas sur la neige" (Footsteps in the Snow).

Schneider studies with Miss Jean Abramson, Piano Department.

Following, Susan Larson, soprano from Thornton, will present her junior voice recital.

Accompanied by senior Dee Ann Dreier, Miss Larson's repertoire consists of "Alma del Core" by Caldara, "Trost und Tranen" by Schubert, "Con Amores, la mia Madre" by Anchieta, "My Master Hath a Garden" by Thompson and "May Day Carol" by Taylor.

She will finish with Barber's "The Secrets of the Old" and Hagemann's "Voices."

Miss Larson is a student of Robert Larson, Music Department.

Jeanette Baier, a mezzo-soprano from Delmont, S.D., will give her junior recital.

Accompanied by junior Sylvia Schumacher, Miss Baier will sing "Fortune" by A. Scarlatti, "The Moon" and "Come and Trip It" by Handel, "The Marriage of Figaro" from the selection, "Say, Ye Who Borrow" by Mozart, "Clouds" by Charles and a Spanish folk tune, "I Don't Wish to Marry."

Miss Baier studies with Dr. Maynard Anderson, Vocal Department.
